A SPECIAL MESSAGE ...

are particularly eager for you to know that they don't think they're anything special. As private individuals, they feel they are their brothers' keepers. The ones who are members of the military feel that anybody in their unit would be every bit as deserving. They made us promise to tell you that.

Master Chief Alan Johnson

and Master Sgt. Ronald Adkins

The Meridian Star's Unsung Heroes are always shy. They don't like the limelight and they're puzzled about why they have been singled out by their friends, families and neighbors. This year's Unsung Heroes Unsung Heroes ...

John Simmons

and Dr. Tom

Lawrence

Tanya Thompson is the the coordinator of continuing education at Meridian

Community College. She nominated Dr. Tom

By Tanya Thompson

A series of history lectures at Meridian

Community College has shown me firsthand the passion two gentlemen have for their country — and the passion they have for the importance of American history in our com-

John F. Kennedy once said, "There is little that is more important for an American citizen

o know than the history and traditions of Dr. Tom Lawrence and Mr. John Simmons created the series, called "American History and Our Heritage," and they're working to Both have served their country in the military. They are veterans. Dr. Lawrence served during World War II. Mr. Simmons served in the Mississippi Air National Guard and later in the U.S. Army. They are both successful businessmen and good citizens.

They both care about our country. They both keep patriotism alive and well in Meridian.

nunity and schools.

his country."

Lawrence and John Simmons as Unsung Heroes for their "passion, patriotism and

Lance Cpl. Cody Perkins

Kristen Price, a senior at Meridian High School, nominated this Purple Heart recipient, Lance Cpl. Cody Perkins of the U.S. Marine Corps, as an Unsung Hero. She met Cody when he worked as a recruiter in Meridian; he has since returned to Camp Pendleton.

By Kristen Price

If you asked most 20-year-olds about their daily lives, they might tell you they attend school and church and hang out with their friends. Occasionally you would stories of jobs, whether they be pleasant or not.

This generic response is what we often consider "normal." For Cody Perkins, however, daily life isn't so normal.

Cody Perkins is a 20-year-old graduate of West Lauderdale High School. He is a son, a brother and an uncle. He is also a proud U.S. Marine and one of my very dear friends. Before knowing Cody, I was unaware of what it's like to actually love and care about someone so involved in Upon graduating high school, Cody began his career as a Marine. He attended basic training and Infantry School and then he was off to San Diego, where he was stationed at Camp

After three months of hard training, Cody received word that he was being sent to Iraq. It was a pivotal piece of news, especially for Cody, but also for his loved ones back at home.

Aug. 8 was an unforgettable day for him. It was 8 a.m. on a seemingly normal

Unsung Hero ...

Hero, Percy Bland of State Farm

Insurance. When Kevin's house

beyond "business as usual."

things were outside.

the front of the house.

assess the damage.

rary repairs.

Percy Bland

Kevin Remy nominated this Unsung sustained major damage in September,

Percy's attention and kindness went way

By Kevin Remy

special to The Star

Hurricanes in Meridian? Not A

That's what we thought until the morning of Sept. 16. My family was up early listening to the howling hurricane-force winds, wondering just how bad

Our home in Marion has large beautiful oak trees that on any normal day would be considered an asset to our lot.

Not that day. The hurricane split a large oak in half. One half came through the roof of our house. The other half fell on Farm agent to report this incident. There was no way I could even go outside to

On Friday morning, at 7 a.m., Percy

Bland was at my house assessing the damage and helping me temporarily protect my home from further damage. I was one on his list of 25 homes to visit that morning. He wrote a check to secure someone to immediately get the tree off the house and for materials for tempo-

I've always heard the slogan, "Like a good neighbor, State Farm is there" — and just considered it another advertising slogan.

My first instinct was to call my State

ROADSIDE BOMB

Lance Cpl. Cody Perkins of the U.S. Marine Corps was nearly killed in Iraq when a roadside bomb exploded, destroying the Humvee in which he was riding. Three large pieces of metal from the bomb were deeply embedded in Cody's body; one caused a rib to puncture his spleen.

day in Iraq. Riding down a highway, Cody and his comrades encountered a roadside bomb that exploded, destroying the Fortunately nobody was killed, but one person was severely wounded. That one person was Cody. Three large pieces of metal from the bomb were deeply embedded in Cody's body; one caused a rib to puncture his spleen. He underwent several surgeries and eventually recovered.

Cody was awarded a Purple Heart. If asked, Cody would jokingly say that the hearts.

best part of receiving a Purple Heart is having free license plates for the rest of his life. However, he knows that it is really an honor and a reminder of how lucky he is to be alive today.

Cody is doing well. His life is now what we know as normal, although he has returned to Camp Pendleton, I admire Cody for his bravery, courage, and pride as a U.S. Marine. I believe that although he is a normal 20-year-old in some aspects, he is also a hero in all of our

PHOTO BY PAULA MERRITT / THE MERIDIAN STAR

The slogan is true, my State Farm agency is like a good neighbor.

HURRICANE DAMAGE

assess damage from a toppled oak tree. It was one of 25 houses on his list of visits that day. "He literally was there for me," Kevin said. "My neighbors were all asking me how I

But that day, he literally was there for lege, my insurance needs change about me. My neighbors were all asking me how I every six months. The staff knows me per-got such special attention ... I have been sonally and is always available to assist me with State Farm for more than 10 years and in managing my insurance needs.

After Hurricane Ivan, Percy Bland showed up at Kevin Remy's house at 7:30 a.m. to golf, softball skills and soccer skills. How do you manage to get a good always ready to help.

THE MERIDIAN STAR

SPECIAL OLYMPICS

Naval Air Station Meridian's Command Master Chief Alan Johnson, left, and Marine Schools Staff-Noncommissioned Officer in Charge Master Sgt. Ronald Adkins look over a Special Olympics planning schedule.

sonnel, as well as the base, to help us Johnson, Master Sergeant Adkins and nition, they give of themselves for

Molenda Martin, director of materials

Unsung Hero ...

care about our community.

its History Committee ...

management at Riley Hospital, nominated as an Unsung Hero the man who never lets anything slip between the cracks storeroom supervisor Ron Carlberg. She also says that Ron has always been there for her and her family in the tough times.

By Molenda Martin

special to The Star Ron Carlberg has worked for Riley Hospital for $6\frac{1}{2}$ years. When I came to Meridian in the winter of 2001, Ron and I immediately became friends. He took me under his wing and showed me around Meridian. He came to know my family and treated them like they were his own.

In March 2004, my oldest daughter was diagnosed with cancer. Through this trying time, Ron kept my thoughts positive and my spirits high. He always gave words of

Not only did he support us mentally, he upported us financially

He organized and donated supplies for a fund-raiser to help pay her medical expenses. He, along with other volunteers, helped raise $3,500. This meant a great deal to my daughter and me and I will be forever grateful.

Ron is a believer in the cor supports local organizations such as the Wesley House, American Cancer Society, March of Dimes and United Way. He contributes, but requires no recognition.

Not only is Ron a great friend, he is also one of the best employees Riley Hospital could have. He is dedicated to the hospital

Unsung Hero ...

Sgt. Ronnie Payne

Sgt. Ronnie Payne of the Mississippi Army National Guard's 185th Aviation Group, Company G, deployed to Iraq in January 2004. As you read this, he may already be home. His wife, Lynn, and children, Amber, Jessica and Justin nominated him as one of this year's Unsung Heroes.

By Lynn Payne

special to The Star I want my husband, Ronnie Payne, to know how proud I am of him and the job he's done. Being the daughter of a Vietnam veteran, I've always believed our troops and veterans have never gotten the recognition

We're all guilty of taking our freedom for granted. These men and women sacrifice their families, their jobs and their lives so we may lay our heads on a soft, warm pillow each night. I'm proud to say one of those who serve is my husband

As the wife of a soldier, you know there's always a chance of getting that phone call that says it's time to go. Our call came in November 2003; on Jan. 6, 2004, Ronnie got orders for Iraq.

He was ready to go, anxious to get there and complete the mission so he could return home. Ĥe's a flight engineer on Chinook

Ronnie, like so many other soldiers, has missed a year of our children's lives. Though it's certainly not the same as being here, we've sent e-mails and pictures. He's missed all the holidays, birthdays, school plays, report cards, baseball, football and softball games, trips to the pool and waterpark. Not to mention the little daily things that you

The upside to this is he didn't have to deal with septic tank problems, the death of the air compressor in our house, both vehi-

APPRECIATING OUR HERITAGE

John Simmons, left, and Dr. Tom Lawrence organized an ongoing lecture series called "American History and Our Heritage." Both are veterans who believe it's important to understand our history and heritage. They present programs to classes or patriotism, and increases understanding of assemblies at schools and to service clubs, historical events.

that these vignettes — presented by new faces with new approaches - will make students more interested in history Mr. Simmons is a member of the Veterans for Accurate History. This is a non-profit organization of Veterans of the armed forces of the United States of America. They are dedicated to fostering a clearer, deeper, more mean-social clubs and church groups. It is hoped with the goal of producing better citizens and Dr. Tom Lawrence is a member of the inspiring patriotism. Patrick Boggan Chapter of the Sons of the This organization educates citizens about American Revolution, and the chairman of tenacity. They are committed to their cause. ingful understanding of American history — They have a passion and are making a difference. Maybe it's time we all tried to make a Members speak to public organizations, social groups and to classes and assemblies in schools about our form of government, how it was created, and how this nation has developed and endured as a beacon of freedom, liberty, equality, justice, individual rights and I applaud these gentlemen for their

As a wise man once said, "All it takes for us the real-life experiences, courage and sacrifices of our veterans, promotes respect and to lose our heritage and history is for good men and women to do nothing."

PHOTO BY PAULA MERRITT / THE MERIDIAN STAR

ALWAYS THERE Ron Carlberg is the storeroom supervisor at Riley Hospital. "Not only is Ron a great friend, he is also one of the best employees Riley Hospital could have," Molenda Martin said. "He and always meets and greets with a smile. Although Ron does not have direct patient contact, he makes the patients' needs his

No. 1 concern by making sure that the hosafter hours and on holidays so that the other You will always hold a place in my heart.

employees in our department can have time pital has adequate supplies. He often works there for me and making me feel at home.

I would like to say congratulations to Ron for all the hard work and thank him for being

DEVOTED COUPLE

Lynn Payne has been awaiting her husband's return for more than a year. Sgt. Ronnie Payne left home for Iraq in January 2004.

explosion of the transformer on a cold, rainy night. Did I mention that I think I killed the The past year has been full of trials and

Ivan, the loss of one the family dogs and the Ronnie with a band of angels and keep him

Please continue to keep our troops in your thoughts and prayers — even if you don't know one. Send a card, a care package tribulations. We will learn from these expedonate to the Red Cross. Anything to le riences and move on. Ronnie's tour of duty is them know America cares. And don't forge almost over and we are anxiously awaiting the families who are left behind. I know from cles being repaired for various reasons, his return home. It has been my prayer for personal experience that it means so much to have the support of family and friends.

Unsung Hero ...

Technical Sgt.

Jennifer Reid submitted this Unsung Hero nomination about her husband, Technical Sgt. James Reid of the 186th Air Refueling Wing. Jennifer said he was worried when the Mississippi Air National Guard called him up in support of Operation Iraqi Freedom, but he never let Refueling Wing, would be here for the birth of our child — especially since we lost our first child at three months of age and the miscarriage of a second baby.

Not knowing how long he would be gone, and possibly not coming home any time soon to enjoy the first year of his child's life, filled me with fear and anxiety. I feared the danger he would be in and the idea that he might never come home.

but you could never see it on his face. He was going to do whatever it took to make sure his child would have the freedom she got such special attention."

the staff has always taken care of me. With two sons, one in high school and one in col-

By Jennifer Reid

special to The Star I remember Sept. 11, 2001, just like it was yesterday. I was at work in the laboratory at Jeff Anderson Regional Medical Center, pregnant with my third child (due date Sept. 25) and realizing this terrorist act was going to affect our lives in so many

The fear of not knowing if my husband, Technical Sgt. James Reid of the 186th Air

I'm sure my husband had the same fears

"launch and recovery" of the plane — which means they get it ready for takeoff and Reagan was born Sept. 13, 2001, and for the sacrifice he has made to make sure James wasn't deployed until she was three our child has freedom. You are a true hero

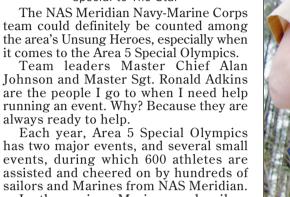

STATESIDE NOW

Technical Sgt. James Reid stands in front of a KC-135R Stratotanker, the aircraft used to refuel jets in mid-air, at Key Field in Meridian. He is a crew chief responsible for the months old. Throughout her first year, he to me and Reagan. was deployed several times and it seemed to To all the men and women who serve in be harder every time he had to leave our military, especially those who have chilbut my husband knew what he had to do for dren and are missing them grow up, you are our true heroes. Because of you, we have I would like to say "thank you," James, smiles on our faces and pride in our hearts.

PHOTO BY PAULA MERRITT / THE MERIDIAN STAF

sailors and Marines from NAS Meridian. In the spring, Marines and sailors invade Ray Stadium to help with the huge track and field competition. In the fall, hundreds of athletes invade NAS Meridian for the Fall Games, which include equestrian events, senior bowling, Unsung Heroes ...

County, you see personnel from Naval volunteering, helping out, making a difference. These two Unsung Heroes

Johnson and Ronald Adkins are his were nominated by Pat Barber, Area 5

Special Olympics director, who says Alan

By Pat Barber

special to The Star

Air Station Meridian quietly

event involving hundreds of athletes and hundreds of volunteers? Teamwork! Special Olympics and NAS Meridian make a good team. We're very fortunate and Master Sergeant. to have the Navy and Marine Corps per-

Unsung Hero ...

the safe homecoming for all our troops.'

Unsung Heroes, yes, but Master Chief carry out our mission. I just can't say enough good things about Master Chief teers don't give of themselves for recog-

Sgt. Scott Rawson Four members of Sgt. Scott Rawson's family submitted "Unsung Hero" nominations about his courage and sacrifice — his wife, Ami; his mother and father, Beverly Davis and Donald Rawson; and his Scott is a member of the Mississippi Army National Guard's 150th Combat Engineer Battalion. Here's what his family said about him. "My husband, Sgt. Scott Rawson, is a strong person who didn't think twice about going to Iraq with his unit. He is making this a positive experience about helping other people. Even though it is very hard to be away from his family, I admire him for the bravery and strength that he has for not only himself, but also for his family. Me and our kids are very proud of him. He is our hero. Let's all pray for

"Even though Scott is very much a family and home person, he also has a sense of duty to his country and fellow Guardsmen. He told me that, as much as he did not want to go to Iraq, he would not stay home if given the opportunity. Scott's sense of duty and his sense of humor will help him, and his fellow Guardsmen, make it through this tough time. I am very proud of him." Beverly Davis "Sgt. Donald Scott Rawson is known for his outgoing personality. He's a 'people person' who makes it a point to meet and know everyone. He has always been a civil servant — as a Meridian police fighter at Naval Air Station Meridian. "He's everybody's friend and the guy everybody likes to call friend. A tough outer crust with a heart big as gold, I'm sure the ones with him will never have a dull moment as he entertains the troops with his stories which may or may not be true — but are certainly entertaining."

Donald Rawson "You have spent years serving others through police and fire occupations and now you are serving your country. We are very proud of you. Your dedication to your job makes Americans like us able to live freely. We will continue to pray daily for you and others serving in the armed forces. Thanks for being a great brother and soldier.'

Unsung Hero ...

McConnell Rachel Woodfin nominated Thelma McConnell, for this Unsung Hero award. Of her friend and neighbor, Rachel says: "Her motto is to put Christ first, others second and herself last.

Thelma

By Rachel Woodfin special to The Star

Thelma McConnell has spent almost her entire lifetime caring for others. At an early age, she lost her mother and had to learn to care for her siblings — and also cousins who came to live with the She married Clifton McConnell in 1936 and later brought their nephew, Tommy Briggs, into their home and raised him as riage in December 1996, before he passed away in March 1997. She began her teaching career in December 1951 and continued to teach until 1982. She spent the last 28 of her 31 years as a teacher at the Margie B. Aust Elementary their own. They celebrated 60 years of mar-

School in Scooba. She is a member of the Retired Teachers Association, Homemaker's Club, Historical Society and the Fellowship Circle. She is a member of the Scooba United Methodist Church, taught Sunday school for several years and is chairman of the board. Even with all this, she still finds time to friends. If there is a need in the community, second and herself last.

Nearly 87 years old, Thelma says she's done a lot of living in her life and Rachel Woodfin, who nominated her as an Unsung Hero, says she has spent much of it serving others. visit the nursing home weekly and you can be honored as such. Her love for Christ and find her cooking for her neighbors and her fellow man shows each and every day.

she is the first to ask, "What can I do to and energy for all her family and friends. help?" Her motto is to put Christ first, others God has richly blessed her and He has

She is a fine example of a hero and should being her family and friends

PHOTO BY PAULA MERRITT / THE MERIDIAN STAR A LOT OF LIVING Thelma McConnell shows bound diaries about her daily life she started back in 1977.

teenage and adolescent issues, Hurricane the last year that God would surround

She has an incredible amount of strength blessed all of us who have the privilege of officer and firefighter, a Lauderdale County deputy and a federal fire-FAMILY MAN

Sgt. Scott Rawson of the 150th Combat Engineer Battalion is shown with his family, wife Ami, daughter Rachel and son Zach.